The Coffin Rose.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1859.

[Pleasant Incident .- The pastor of the Congregational church of New Sharon, Me., communicates the following incident of a child's funeral in that place: "The little one, all beautifully robed for the grave, was laid in its coffin on the morning of its burial. The weeping friends placed in its little hand a small boquet of flowers, among which was an unopened rose-bud, of the 'Rose of Sharon." The lid was then placed upon the coffin, and the funeral services performed. When, after the lapse of not more than two or three hours, the coffin was opened again, and the friends gathered round to look upon it for the last time, that bud had become a full blown rose, while in the cold hands of death. It seemed as though a voice came up from those beautiful sealed lips, saying ' weep not for me : though broken from the parent stem, I am blooming in the Paradise of God.' "-Maine Paper.]

" Lay the flowers in her baby fingers, Lily and daisy and violet blue; Dew in the cup of the lily lingers,-She was a drop of morning too.

Lilies are pure and violets lowly, Daisies look glad to the sun above, But give her a rosebud white and holy, For the rose alone is the flower of love.

Shut so gently the coffin cover,-Never again shall I brood her rest! Wings of the angels now must hover Over my bird in her grassy nest."

Then was the burial service spoken;

Mournful music adding its pain ;-

Is not the heart of the mother broken? Now she must look on her child again. "Oh! sweet friends, how the farewell lingers,

One more kiss ere the moment goes ! What is this? In her baby fingers The folded bud is an open rose ! Out of Eden some wind stole under

The heavy fall of the coffin lid, And stirred with a strange and silent wonder The life in the snowy petals hid. Beautiful Rose! what joys enfold me!

(Give me that curl of her shining hair,) Thou, the blossom of love, hast told me My heart-bud opens in warmer air ! "

cotemporary an amazingly long and verbose extract from somewhere, in favor of educating the sexes together. We clip from the Phila. Evening Post the following " per contra" upon the same subject : EDUCATING THE SEXES TOGETHER .- As the education

Not long ago we noticed in the columns of our

of the two sexes in the same school has been urged late- maker at Whitfield had four children at a birth." ly, as beneficial to both, the following, indicating the general opinion of the school-teaching profession, will be found interesting : "The committee to whom was referred the application of young ladies of Michigan for admission as students in the State University, have reported that at present it is inexpedient to introduce the change into the University. In coming to a conclusion they have sought to collect facts and opinions from many sources, such as would command respect and exercise a healthful influence upon public sentiment. Mr. Mann, President of Antioch College, says: 'The system works well here, and there are great advantages in it. I ought not to say this, however, without adding that very sesystem.' C. G. Finney, President of Oberlin College, where all are admitted, says the results are quite satisfactory. President Hopkins, of Williams College, favors it partially. Chancellor Frelinghuysen opposes. Dr. Nott opposes. President Walker, of Harvard University, says there is an immense preponderance of enlightened public opinion against the experiment, in which opinion he entirely concurs. President Woolsey, of Yale, writes that he is averse to mingling the the universities of Vermont and Virginia, all express of Staten Island. the opinion that the education of the sexes together is inexpedient." Our own opinion leans decidedly to that of President

Woolsey, of Yale, upon this subject. We object to the new system more on account of the girls than the boys. The boys may, in some respects, gain by the mixing system-especially in respect to manners. But in respect to severe and absorbing study, we think both sexes would lose. Love nonsense-not appropriate or healthy at their time of life, either to body or mindmust always inevitably result from such daily intercourse of the sexes, and take a portion of that attention which their studies should wholly occupy. Mr. Mann's admission that "very serious dangers must attend the introduction of such a system," seems to us to imply an almost fatal objection to the system itself.

Perhaps the above worthies, from Mann to Woolsey, were not acquainted with the system for "educating for it, on the ground that many persons could not the sexes together" once known as the Hawaiian Evening Singing Schools. We have heard but little of those institutions lately.

VARIETY THE TEST OF MERIT.-We say habitually of the writer of a poem, of the author of a phy and Chemistry, died at Hartford, Ct., on Sunplay, of the exhibitor of fireworks, of the superin- day, Nov. 21. tendent of any public exhibition whatsoever, that he has shown great poverty of invention, that there was no variety in his entertainment. The same of a General when he bungles a campaign; he has ery, and that she might never be thrashed by her no variety of resources; he acts upon a stereotyp- husband. ed plan; he has no conception how to meet an unexpected combination. In all things, a man's variety is the measure of his wealth; and variety well used will be the measure of his power. There is nothing that the world in general so well understands as this. From a good dinner to a good sermon; from the last old English fashion revived to the last new French fashion imported, the effective power of almost everything that delights and entertains the world depends on variety .- T. S. Blackie.

A Cincinnati paper notices the last solitary banquet of a "last man's" club in that city. In the cholera season of 1832, seven gentlemen agreed to meet annually and dine once together as long as they lived, a bottle of wine to be sealed and drunk in memoriam, by the last suvivor. The first reunion was held on the 6th of October, 1832, and on the 6th of October, 1858, Dr. Vattier, sole survivor of the seven, drank from the bottle and pledged the six dead friends whose empty chairs and empty plates were his only society at the last melancholy feast.

What the "dickens" has got into the matrimomal menages of English authors of late? Ruskin is divorced from his wife. Lewes has left his. Lytton wishes to confine his spouse in a mad-house. Thackeray's is insane, Mrs. Jameson and Mrs. Norton's domestic infelicities are public history. SUPERIOR Champagne Cider, Claret. Landor fled from his wife, and now, flying from another man's returns, in his old age, to the shelter of his own uncongenial roof at Fiesole.

On Charity.

At the " Evangelical Conference" in Liverpool, last fall, Dr. King of Glasgow said

"Would they know in whose presence opposition itself dropped its poisoned weapons!-who shed a hallowed and controlled influence on general society !- who turned the battle of virtue before dominant vice, and bore down the evils of profligate neighborhoods !- it was the man who breathed charity-that charity which thinketh no evilwhich had no eyes, no ears, for the perception of offenses- which beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things'which loved the more the less it was loved; and if not able to eradicate the curse, repelling it by blessings of righteousness and of peace. (Applause). Were they then (it might be asked) to be indiscriminate in their amenities, to smile on perversity, and to call evil good ! No; they were still to respect moral distinctions, and to show their faithfulness by mutual expostulations, with all meekness-not bitter in their remonstrances; for a passionate reproof was powerless, it went for nothing; the reproved would feel the pettish man was speaking in it, and not the holy God, and therefore it touched not his conscience. To be effective, they must be effectionate in admonition, meekly instructing those who opposed them. As to the reciprocal attitude of distinctive churches toward each other, they had mutual jealousies and heartburnings. How were these to be canceled? By each exchanging its human inventions for the one standard of Scripture; but while this was being accomplished, and while the watchman did not vet see eye to eye on every point of disputed doctrine. there still might be harmonious co-operation in almost all good works, by engaging the mediation of Christian charity. Many were the fractures it healed, many the chasms it filled up, many the loose and fallen stones it replaced and cementedits voice was always for peace-tor all the peace compatible was right; longing for the good and pleasant spectacle of brethren dwelling together in unity; and from where disseverence was found, even in its partings it loved and blessed, and turned to soothe its sovereign eyes in the verdant fields of the glorious Canaan where the dispersed of Israel were gathered into one."

A PREACHER INTERRUPTED .- Dr. Dixon lately preached in Liverpool a funeral discourse on the death of Dr. Bunting. In spite of his infirmity of blindness he is said to have for ninety minutes held an auditory in wrapt and wondering attention as he portrayed the mind, the heart, the life, the passive and active virtues of Dr. Bunting. A most ludicrous incident occurred while Dr. Dixon was delivering his sermon. In speaking of the removal of Dr. Bunting, and others, he said it seemed to him as though the great men of the Methodist Church were passing away one after another, and that there was none rising up to fill their places. The instant this opinion was expressed, a good old woman in the congregation shouted out at the top of her voice, "And, bless the Lord, that's a lie." This corrective remark of the zealous mother in Israel so disconcerted the speaker, that he was nnable to proceed. At length he recovered himself, and without noticing the interruption in any way, pressed on to the close of his commemorative discourse.

EFEECTS OF COMETS, LOOK OUT .- Forty years ago the people of London beheld a great comet. An article appeared in the Gentleman's Magazine, a London periodical, on the supposed influence of that comet. The following were the influences summed up by the writer :- "Wasps were few. flies became blind and disappeared early; many women brought forth twins, and the wife of a shoe-

REFINED PRISONERS .- The prisoners in jail at Bangor, Me., are very select in their society .-Last Saturday week a low fellow named Webster was sent to jail for lack of a fine of $2,64, and the prisoners, disliking his society, clubbed together and paid the fine by selling wooden meat skewers of their own make, and so got rid of him.

Hoops PROSCRIBED .- At a camp meeting of the United Brethren, Church recently held near West Baltimore, Montgomery county, Ohio, Bishop Russel forbade any one with hoops on to partake of rious dangers must attend the introduction of such a the sacrament, affirming that they would not be welcome at the table of the Lord!

THE QUARANTINE NUISANCE-ABATERS .- Judge Metcalfe has rendered an elaborate decision yesterday in the Tompkins arson case. He declares that the Quarantine buildings are, and will, if rebuilt, be a nuisance, and shows from medical testimony that contagion will disseminate throughout sexes in any place of education above the school for the | the village of Tompkinsville. He discharges the elements, more on account of girls than of boys. NOTICE. WHEREAS THE UNDERSIGNED HAS BEEN INFORMED OR Y good authority that great irregularity exists in the taking and killing of the wild cattle on the mountains on Hawaii, belonging to His Majesty and to the Government, by parties who claim or pretend to claim right under bills of sale from His Majesty or from the Government, and whereas, from the nature of the country and other causes it is almost impossible to place agents to guard the interests of His Majesty and of the Government, and whereas all parties having legal claims on the said wild cattle have already had time sufficient, if they have used due diligence to remove the same.

Now therefore, the undersigned hereby gives notice to all parties who purchased wild cattle running on the mountains on Ha-wail, previous to the 1st day of January 1857, to remove the same if not already removed, on or before the 1st day of May next, after which time, parties taking wild cattle will be prosecuted.
